

SAVE THE DATE!

Diabetes Care:

Prevention and Treatment in
New Jersey's Latino Community

Wednesday, March, 19, 2008 | Start Time: 8:30 a.m.

Rutgers University Busch Campus Center | Piscataway, New Jersey

- This summit will take a critical look at the diabetes issues affecting New Jersey's Latino Community
- Continuing education credits will be offered for the medical professional community
- Nationally renowned speakers include:
 - Dr. Richard Carmona, Surgeon General of the United States – 2002 to 2006
 - Dr. Enrique Caballero, Director of the Latino Diabetes Initiative, Joslin Diabetes Center and Harvard Medical School
- Registration details to follow

For further information, visit www.hinj.org